

Disclosure of Relevant Financial Relationships and Conflict(s) of Interest

Conflict of interest in CPE arises in CPE when individual financial relationships relevant to the CPE content compromise or have the potential to compromise professional judgement and/or impart bias into CPE content.

All individuals who influence, control, contribute to, or present CPE content must disclose relevant financial relationships and conflicts of interest.

Individuals must disclose all financial relationships within the prior 24 months, regardless of the amount.

Sample Disclosure Form

Activity title:
Activity date and location (if applicable):
Name of individual who influenced controlled, contributed to, or presented/will present CPE:
Individual's role in influencing, controlling, contributing to, or presenting CPE:
Company or organization with which individual has a financial relationship	Nature of financial relationship (individual's role with company or organization)	Declaration of conflict of interest
Example: ABC Company	Researcher	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
<input type="checkbox"/> In the past 24 months, I have not had any financial relationships with companies or organizations.
<input type="checkbox"/> I attest that the above information is correct as of this date of submission [date] [signature]

Examples

Examples of “nature of financial relationship (individual’s role with company or organization)”: employee, researcher, consultant, advisor, speaker, independent contractor (including contracted research), royalties or patent beneficiary, executive and person with ownership interest.

Examples of disclosure statements to learners:

Dr. Cameron Yates, planner for this educational event, has received a research grant from XYZ Tube Feeding Organization.

Dr. Candice Tamci, speaker for this educational event, has no relevant financial relationship(s) to disclose.