

Diabetes in the 21st Century

Seminar Overview

Are you interested in teaching your patients about diabetes, but find it difficult to keep pace with the latest advances in diabetes care? Then consider attending this all day program that synthesizes the critical elements of diabetes care and education.

Through dynamic presentations and case studies, we will provide you with creative strategies to succeed at teaching in today's fast paced health care environment.

In addition, small group activities allow participants to improve clinical confidence and diabetes problem solving skills.

Our goal when developing this seminar was to include as many diabetes clinical "pearls" as possible, so participants leave the seminar feeling more empowered and confident advocating for excellence in diabetes care.
