

Thomassian's Trailer Trip - June 2013

Craters of Moon, Idaho

We made it to Yellowstone for Bev's Bday!

There she blows- Old Faithful

Grand Canyon of Yellowstone

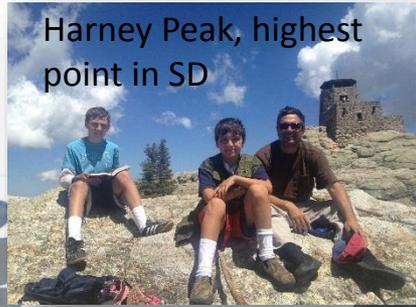

Boys love tractors - in Elko, NV

Start here and follow up and right around

Boys hiked 8 miles

Harney Peak, highest point in SD

End Here Last Day- heading home

Arches National Park

Glenwood Springs - One of our favorite Colorado stops.

Mt Rushmore, SD

Ready to explore Lamar Valley

In these last couple of months I've started the school year, gone on a one month trip, celebrated my bros Bday gone trick or treating, and much, much more.
The best part of the year was...
Spending quality time with my family whether its playing rooki, life or just talking family is important to me
- Robert

This year I started 3rd grade
it is so mucho fun time blew by so fast. I also had a awesome one month trip so that was awesome. We saw so much on our trip.
Jackson Thomassian

It was a remarkable year for our family.

Chris and Bev happily celebrated 15 years of marriage. We also celebrated 15 years of Bev's company, Diabetes Education Services. Due to business growth, she needed more work space. We are pictured here at the Grand Opening of her new office. It is a great space to create, dream and work hard (while gazing out windows into our garden).

To celebrate our anniversary and Bev's big 5-0, we took a one-month trip in our small but comfy trailer. Our mission was to explore the Western states and national parks. It was terrific being together as a family without distraction for the month. We walked a lot of trails, played a lot of card games, and had tons of unexpected adventures!

Our first goal was to make it to Yellowstone by June 4. We let the wind carry us to our next destination when we felt the urge to move on. Some of our favorite stops included Yellowstone, Glenwood Springs Colorado, the Badlands and Arches Monument. At the last minute, we decided to take a dip in the Great Salt Lake in Utah. It is a bucket list event! Work keeps us busy as ever and the boys are very diligent students in school. But at the end of the day, the best part of life is just hanging out and sharing special moments with our family and friends.

Sending you our love and warmest wishes for a terrific holiday and great New Year.

Beverly, Chris, Robert and Jackson